Notice

A Message to our District of Columbia Customers

About our Residential Essential Service (RES) Programs

In April 2021, Washington Gas implemented changes to the Residential Essential Service (RES) Program, including the enrollment process, as approved by the Public Service Commission (PSC) of the District of Columbia.

RES CREDITS

Eligible customers will receive an approximate 50% discount on their total bill. This will be achieved through a 100% discount on the distribution service, which includes the customer and distribution charges for the winter months of October — April. The RES credit will be presented as a separate line item on customers' bills showing the dollar credit.

AVOIDED COSTS

As a beneficiary of the RES credit, eligible customers are exempt from certain regulatory surcharges or avoided costs. These avoided costs consist of the Sustainable Energy Trust Fund surcharge, the Energy Assistance Trust Fund surcharge and the RES surcharge. The cost of these avoided surcharges is approximately $6.42 per month, assuming an average RES monthly usage of 92 therms. Customers will see a total of all the surcharges avoided in aggregate, not broken-out individually. However, it is important to note that customers are still responsible for all applicable taxes and the PROJECTpipes surcharge.

ENROLLMENT & RETROACTIVE CREDITS

The RES program is specific to the heating season and credits will be applied to RES customer bills from November through April. Retroactive RES credits will be received for the entire prior heating season for enrollments received up to September 30 each year. Enrollment for the new heating season begins October 1. Customers must re-enroll for the next heating season.

PROGRAM CHANGES

In 2014 the Public Service Commission of the District of Columbia approved changes to the low-income program in DC, the RES program. Enrollments will now be accepted all year-round, October 1 through September 30 each year. Qualified residents will continue to receive credits for the entire heating season. Customers must still re-enroll in the program each year and be qualified eligible by the District Department of Energy and Environment (DOEE). All applications taken October 1 each year will be eligible for RES credits for the upcoming winter heating season.
